

REACH Global Coordinator Bio

Nancy Walters is currently Global Coordinator for REACH and co-facilitator of the UN Network for the Scaling Up Nutrition Movement. She has been working in the field of international development and humanitarian action for over 25 years. Her experience covers a wide range of operations, with a special interest in food security, nutrition and nutrition-sensitive programmes, strategic planning and results-based management. Before joining REACH, she was

WFP Representative and Country Director in Mali. Prior to this she served as Chief of the WFP School Feeding Service in the Policy, Planning and Strategy Division where she moved forward WFP's flagship programme through global partnerships with a view to reaching hungry schoolchildren through nationally owned and sourced school-feeding programmes. Ms. Walters was also the Chair of the UN Standing Committee on Nutrition School Age Children Working Group.

Over her career, she has worked in Mali, Egypt, Lesotho and Ghana and at WFP's Headquarters in Rome with the Africa and Middle East, Central Asia and Eastern Europe Bureaux and the Office of the Executive Director. She was Senior WFP Regional Programme Adviser for Afghanistan, Pakistan, Tajikistan and Iran and focused on results-based management.